“ To the family of Carolyn (Maples-Kaminski) Oliver: Family, the entire congregation of Living Hope United Methodist Church offers their deepest expression of sympathy at the death of your love one Carolyn. We want you to know we are praying for you all, and want you to know we are here for you. In the weeks and months ahead, please don't hesitate to let us know how we can support you. I can remind you of the very core of the Christian's faith: that God is like Jesus, sharing your pain, accepting your perplexity and your anger, holding you close in your grief. Life is not fair. Suffering and death strike anywhere, at any time, and we do not, we cannot, tell why. But God is with you and within you, with a love that will not let you go. As the Pastor of Living Hope United Methodist Church, I can also share your sorrow with you. I want you to feel free to call me any time and to come in perhaps just to cry a bit, perhaps to express the rebellion or despair you may be feeling, perhaps to let me pray with you â€“whatever offers you relief. So family, don't worry about Carolyn. She is safe in the hands of God. May God bless and comfort you. Lean on God. God will walk you through this time of sorrow. And may we all claim faith in Jesus Christ, so at the end of our days, we too may gather around God's throne with loved ones who have gone on before us. Yours in deepest sympathy, Reverend Ralph Elwyn Gaines, Pastor Living Hope United Methodist church

“ Krissy, Eddie, Zach, and family:

I can not begin to express my condolences for your loss. I loved Carolyn like a mother for many years and considered her to be more of a mom than my own mom. I am here for you no matter what day or night, if you need anything or just want to talk. I love you guys.
