“ I worked with Doris at First National Bank of Omaha back in the early 80's. Ed and I last saw her and Don at a Village Inn in northwest Omaha. She was still the loving, kind-hearted person then that she always had been. The people we love, work with, live next to and encounter in our everyday activities, are threads. Those threads, woven together, create the tapestry of our lives. Doris is a golden thread in each of our lives just as each of us were a golden thread in her life. She will continue to live on as we pass the blessing of her golden thread to others in this tapestry of life.

We pray that today and everyday, each of you will be able to feel her presence smiling down upon you from heaven above. May her angel wings softly and gently tickle your hearts and faces with warm smiles and memories.

“Just knowing you’re up there, said the mountain to the sky, helps me remember I’ll never be alone” . “ David Samuels
