“ Jim we are shocked to just now learn of your passing. I am glad we got to see you at our last visit. I still have some of your books that I will now move onto my bookshelf to have a little bit of you with us. Rest easy, we love you. Sarah and Creampuff (Dee)

“ James, when I was 16 ...and you were in your 50s, we managed to offend our fellow patrons at perkins. We continued offending book goers at Jackson st as you barked at me to fetch you books, and again as we both frothed at the mouth listening to the great Robert Ressler describe some of our favorite serial killers. May you continue offending wherever you may be until I join you.

I met James Vorel on August 17, 1991 on the seventh floor of Oldfather Hall, UNL. We remained friends, until today when I renewed his new yorker magazine subscription and called Valhaven to tell him. He was no longer with us. Somewhere he's giving a Sociology or History lesson to Nobel prize winners. That's the company that will keep him. I miss you my friend. I do so miss you

“ You were one of a kind, James, brilliant as a matter of fact. Your sound advice and great breadth of knowledge on a variety of topics will be sorely missed. Polly and I always enjoyed visiting with you at parties thrown by Andre and Barb Shousha. May God Rest Your Soul, Greg & Polly Wagner and family.
