

Lois Lorraine Oakes

May 2, 1934 - November 13, 2009

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

“ Lois Lorraine Oakes

December 10, 2022 at 09:12 AM

“ Please accept my heartfelt sympathies on the loss of Lois. She was such a neat lady! I still have the 'Tooth Fairy' pillow that she made for me over ten years ago... my youngest still uses it! :) I always knew it was going to be a great day when I saw Bob and Lois on my dental hygiene schedule. I will keep you all in my thoughts and prayers...

*May God bless you all,
Kris Brichacek*

Kris Brichacek - November 19, 2009 at 11:31 AM

01

“ It is difficult, if not impossible, to quantify a person in just one word. In thinking of Lois, a single word that keeps recurring in my mind, CLASS! She always seemed to carry herself with the grace and dignity of one of the old school movie stars.

That is not to construe her as a pretentious person. Any one who has spent any time with her, Indian wrestled with her, watched her feats of flexibility and balance, had one of her famous back rubs, knows that snob or pompous type descriptors are far removed of Lois.

Coming from a small farm, to living in one of the biggest cities in the world, Lois has been able to do it all. She could have dined with royalty or gone hunting with average Joe with equal ease and prowess.

I am reminded of the final scene of Titanic, where they pan across all of the pictures of the things that character had done in her life. The pictures of the life of Lois would be equally, if not more, impressive. I wish that we all would be as satisfied with our lives' accomplishments.

I have considered in the past, what kind of people Bob and Lois would have raised had they been blessed with children. I know they both have positively influenced the person that I am today. Any one who had the privilege of full time tutelage and love from Bob and Lois would have surely turned out to be an extraordinary person.

Lois represents a rare breed of person that genuinely considers others. She was always able to make every one around her feel comfortable. Lois made everyone in her large family feel loved. Exceptional feats performed by a very special person.

I will miss her hugs. I will miss her humor. I will miss her light.

Many of us have had the honor to know and love Lois. Now, all in Heaven will get to appreciate her giving and gracious soul.

One of the  - November 14, 2009 at 10:38 AM

PM

“ Bob, We cannot express how sorry we are for your loss, I know Lois will be missed very much.

We often think about the great times we had, some 50 years ago. She was a great gal to know and work with.

It is such a terrible disease to have. John has also been diagnosed with it, although he has had it for 3 years, he is doing pretty well with medication.

Our prayers are with you during this grieving time, although I'm sure you have already grieved for the Lois that you knew and loved.

Phyllis and John Matula

Phyllis and John Matula - November 14, 2009 at 09:41 AM