“ Kenny, it has always been a joy for me to tell the story of how you and I have known each other since the day I was born. Irene gave birth to you at the old Methodist Hospital in Omaha one day before my mom gave birth to me there the very next day. Our friend Ginny joined us there a few days later, on May 9th when Jeanette gave birth to her. Our moms all knew each other and were all in the hospital at the same time with us. Back in those days, the doctors kept new moms in the hospital for a week or so after giving birth. We all started kindergarten together and graduated from Valley High School together. From there, we all went our separate ways, but never have we forgotten each other. I especially thank you for being such a good listener. I remember many nights sitting with you in your red Ford Galaxy in my driveway while you listened to me boohooing about my boyfriend who was out with the boys instead of with me. How did you always know when I was sitting alone brooding at home on a Saturday night? You will be missed by all who knew you. My prayers are ascending with you. Love, Carlene
